Below is the full spec. I parsed all 11 scripts sentence by sentence (4,409 words, about 230 sentences). Each rule shows how often it occurs in the set (e.g. 9/11), so you can tell what's mandatory from what's optional.

Transcript fixes. I read the speech-to-text errors as intended:

- "word amount" is word of mouth, and "Addspin" / "Ants Bend" is ad spend.
- "Caven" is Kevin, "Lee Genj" is Lead Gen Jay, and "our use" in Daryoosh's hook is his name.
- "His every ticker client Adam" is "Here's how we took our client Adam," and "office plates" is off his plate.
- Greg's "$370 seven dollars" is $377, and his "50,000 a day" is almost certainly $50 a day.

Two originals also contain mistakes the spec is designed to catch. Stephanie's script calls her "Chelsea" near the end. Jared's hook says "a few thousand views a month," but his body says "500,000 views per video."

Notation. [SLOT] = fill in. {a / b} = choose one. (words) = optional. Swap [he]/[his]/[him] for the client's pronouns.

1. The skeleton

Length. The scripts run 244–577 words, median 400, and 7 of 11 fall between 338 and 425. Target 350–450 words (about 2–2.5 minutes spoken) in 18–26 sentences. The set ranges from 11 to 29 sentences, median 22.

Proportions. Measured by word position (medians):

- the transition into the method lands at 31% of the script
- the first pillar at 36%
- the scale-proof line at 87%
- the CTA at 92%

So a 400-word script is roughly 145 words of story and proof, 205 words of method, and 50 words of close.

Beat	Job	Frequency
B1 Hook	One-sentence result headline	11/11
B2 Identity	Who they are, and that they were already good at their job	11/11
B3 Before	What was broken, with a number	11/11
B4 After	New numbers plus a business consequence	11/11 (9 before the method, 2 after)

B5 Transition	"So here's the exact strategy..."	9/11
B6 Pillars	2–3 numbered moves	11/11 (8 use three, 3 use two)
B7 Time cost	How little of the client's time it takes	9/11
B8 Final state	Who they are now	8/11 (the other 3 end their last pillar on a "now" statement)
B9 Scale proof	"We do this for hundreds of..."	9/11
B10 CTA	"Click the link down below, see if you qualify"	11/11

That is the standard order, used by 9 of 11. The one permitted variant is results-last (Greg, Kevin): B1, B2, B3, B6, B4, B8, B9, B10. Use it when the headline result is money that lands best as the payoff of the method, or when the script must stay under about 300 words.

Optional devices, by frequency:

- business-consequence escalator, 8/11 (treat as near-required)
- viewer aside, 7/11
- anti-vanity line, 4/11
- "sounds simple, but" line, 3/11
- superlative, 3/11
- iteration proof, 2/11
- one each: pain math, breakout-video turning point, on-screen stats board, credit-the-client, niche objection, independence close

2. Intake sheet

Every number in the script comes from here. The template never invents a stat.

Field	Collect	If missing
Name	First name; "Dr." for physicians	Anonymous mode: "our client" plus profession throughout
Profession	Plain-English label: "fertility expert," "sells tiny homes"	Required
Credibility	Years in industry, "already successful," "well known as," celebrity	"already successful in the [industry] space"

Before behavior	What they posted and who made it	Required (sets the failure mode)
Before numbers	Followers, avg views per video, total posts, hours/month, ad spend/month	Use a zero ("had never posted") or a minimizer ("a couple hundred views per video")
After numbers	Followers, total views, views/month, leads/month, revenue added, ad spend cut, % lifts	Need at least two
Timeframe	Days, weeks, or months since starting	Required
Breakout video	Which video number popped, and its views	Skip L6
Business consequence	Leads, DMs, sales hire, ad spend replaced, business-model change	"consistently generates leads"
Interventions	What the team actually did, mapped to pillar codes in 4C	Required, 2–3
Time commitment now	How often and how long they film	"a few hours a month"
Superlative	Rank, top %, "most followed X"	Skip
CTA audience	Local businesses, e-com, professional services, business owners	"business owners"

3. The line-by-line template

L1 · Hook (required, one sentence, 21–41 words, median 30)

> Here's how we took our client, [NAME], from [BEFORE] to [AFTER 1], [AFTER 2], and [AFTER 3] in just [TIMEFRAME].

- Pick the variant with the rule in 4A.
- Open with "Here's how we" (10/11).
- "Took" (4/11) pairs with from/to. "Helped" (6/11) pairs with a verb plus stats, or with "go from."
- Call them "our client, [NAME]" (9/11).
- Stack 2–3 metrics. Views plus followers is the default pair.
- End on a time qualifier (9/11). "In just [N weeks/months]" is the default. Alternates: "in less than six months," "all within 90 days," "on [his] very first campaign."

L2 · Identity and credibility (required, 1–2 sentences)

> So [NAME] is a [PROFESSION].
> So when [NAME] started working with us, [he] was already very successful in the [INDUSTRY] space, and [he] just wanted to scale the business with social media.
> When [NAME] came to us, [he] was an expert [PROFESSION], but [he] wasn't yet an expert on social media.

Start with "So" (7/11) or "When" (3/11). Name the profession by this line at the latest (10/11).

None of the 11 criticizes the client's core skill. The only thing ever broken is their social media or marketing.

L3 · Before: behavior (required)
Open with one of these, then add one failure-mode sentence from 4B:

- "Before working with us," (5/11)
- "When [NAME] started working with us," (3/11)
- "When [NAME] came to us," (2/11)
- "Before coming to us," (2/11)

L4 · Before: number (required here; 8/11 have one)

> [He] {had just [N] followers / was averaging under [N] views per video / had posted [N] times before working with us with almost no traction / was spending almost [N] hours a month on content}.

Shrink the number with "just," "only," "under," "a couple," or "never cracked."

L5 · Before amplifier (optional, at most one)

- Pain math: "And at that pace, it would take over [N] years to reach [MILESTONE]." Compute (milestone − current) ÷ current yearly gain, round down, and prefix "over."
- Mirror: "And this is something we see with [SEGMENT] all the time. They're incredibly good at what they do, but they just don't have a system to [OUTCOME]."
- Time constraint: "But obviously, [he]'s a successful [PROFESSION], successful business owner. [He] doesn't have tons of time to waste in front of a camera. So we knew we had to come in and get [him] these results without wasting [his] time."

L6 · Breakout video (optional)

> But after just [his] [Nth] video working with our team, [he] got a [X] million view video and [his] social media just took off from there.

L7 · After: numbers and escalator (required)

> But now [he] has over [FOLLOWERS] followers, [VIEWS] views, and [he] started getting so many leads on social media that [he] actually [CONSEQUENCE].

Open with "But now," "Now," "But after working with us," or "Since working with us." Include 2+ numbers, and repeat at least one hook number (7/11).

Escalator consequences used in the set:

- replaced $60,000 a month in ad spend
- had to hire an entire sales team
- DMs flooded with prospects asking how to work with [him]
- inbound opportunities
- having to change the entire business model

Stats-board variant: "So these right here are actually [his] first 30-day stats. We increased post volume by [N]%, likes and comments by [N]%, and got [him] [VIEWS] views and [FOLLOWERS] followers, again, just all in the first month. And now we've actually generated closer to [TOTAL] views total, and probably multiple millions more by the time that you're watching this."

L8 · After: consistency (required; "consistently" appears in 8/11)

> And now [he] consistently {posts videos that get millions of views / gets hundreds of thousands, if not millions, of views per video / pulls in millions of views every single month}.

Optional anti-vanity follow-up: "But of course [he] didn't just want the vanity metrics. [He] wanted an audience that recognized [him] as the [EXPERTISE] and is willing to pay for [his] services."

L9 · Transition (required in standard order)
Use one of these word for word. Don't reuse the same one in back-to-back scripts.

- "So here's the exact strategy that we used for [NAME]."
- "So here's exactly what we did to get [him] there."
- "Here's exactly how we helped [NAME] get there."
- "So here's how we helped [him] do that."
- "So here's the full strategy and breakdown of what we did to get [NAME] to this point."
- "So here's the exact strategy that blew [him] up in the first place."
- "And the exact strategy we used to do this is very simple to explain, but kind of difficult to execute if you have never had the experience of getting millions of views before."

L10–L12 · Pillars (chosen from 4C under its ordering constraints)
Every pillar uses the same micro-structure:

- (a) Label sentence with an ordinal. P1: "First," / "So first," / "So the first thing we did was." P2: "Second," / "Next," / "So the second part of this is" / "We also." P3: "And third," / "And number three," / "And finally," / "And lastly."
- (b) Before-contrast: "Before, [he] was [OLD BEHAVIOR]."

- (c) Specifics: "So we [ACTION]," followed by 3–6 concrete nouns. At least one pillar must contain such a list (10/11 do).
- (d) Aside: optional, from 4D.
- (e) Outcome: what it made them look like, how it performed, or what it freed up. Examples: "that made him look and sound like the expert he was," "They absolutely crushed."

One of the first two pillars is the "hero" pillar. It runs 60–130 words and carries the before-contrast and the aside. The other pillars run 25–80 words.

Pillar 1 must be the antidote to the L3 failure mode (mapping in 4B).

L13 · Time cost (required, 9/11)
Place it inside the done-for-you, batch, or system pillar, or right after the last pillar. Allowed units: a few hours, half a day or an afternoon, once or a couple times a month.

- "And now that the entire system is set up for [him], all [he] does is sit down and film a couple times a month for a few hours."
- "[NAME] records once a month, and that's it. That's [his] entire commitment. We handle everything else."
- "[He] just shows up, films, and then we handle the rest."
- "We took [his] entire team from spending [N] hours a month on content to just [M]."

L14 · Final state (required here)
Pick one closer from 4E. If P3 is SYSTEM, you may instead end P3 on a "now" statement, as the three originals without a closer do.

L15 · Scale proof (required, 9/11)

> And we do this for hundreds of {business owners / local businesses} every single {day / week}. (We have dozens of case studies and testimonials you can scroll through.)

Never give an exact count. It's always "hundreds" of businesses, "dozens" of case studies, "billions" of views.

L16 · CTA (required, 11/11)

> And if [CONDITION from 4F], (just like we did for [NAME],) just click the link down below, see if you qualify.

"Click the link down below" never changes. End with "see if you qualify" (default, 7/11) or "to apply" (3/11).

4. The banks

4A. Hook variants (first matching rule wins)

1. Goal Crush (Jay). Use when the client had a stated goal and you beat it by 2x or more on time.
   "Here's how we helped our client, [NAME], crush [his] [one year] goal of hitting [GOAL] in just [ACTUAL TIME] and scaled to [BIGGER RESULT] in just [TIMEFRAME]."
2. ROI (Greg). Use when the headline win is paid-ad ROI.
   "Here's how we helped [NAME] go from [OLD ACQUISITION METHOD] to generating a [X]x return from just $[SPEND] of ad spend on [his] very first campaign."
3. Descriptor (Ashley). Use when the client's title is more impressive than their name.
   "Here's how we helped a [PRESTIGE DESCRIPTOR] generate [VIEWS] views and gain [FOLLOWERS] followers in less than [TIMEFRAME]."
   Reveal the name in L2: "So our client [NAME] has [N] years in the industry and..."
4. From-To (Dr. Richard, Jared, Adam, David). Use when you have a clear "from": either a small number on the same metric with 10x+ growth, or a failed-effort behavior like "posting multiple times per day for years, with no results."
   "Here's how we took our client, [NAME], from [BEFORE] to [AFTER 1], [AFTER 2], and [AFTER 3] in just [TIMEFRAME]."
   Optional kickers: "with zero ad spend," "and ranked [him] in the top [X]% of [CATEGORY] creators worldwide," or swap the stats for "to being literally the most followed [PROFESSION] in the world."
   - Before-Contrast (Stephanie) is the two-sentence alternate, for when "for years" is the most striking fact: "Before coming to us, our client [NAME] had been posting consistently for years and still hadn't gotten even close to [MILESTONE]. And less than [TIMEFRAME] after working with us, we had generated over [RESULT] for [his] [BUSINESS] and made [him] one of the most recognizable names in [his] entire niche."
5. Stat Stack (Kevin, Chelsea, Daryoosh). Use for everything else.
   "Here's how we helped our client, [NAME], generate [VIEWS] views, {gain [N] followers / 10x [his] follower count}, and {increase engagement by over [N]% / generate predictable traffic for [his] business} in just [TIMEFRAME]."

Batch rotation: this set of 11 uses 4 From-To, 3 Stat Stack, and 1 each of the other four. When writing a series, rotate hooks, transitions, closers, and CTAs the same way so the batch doesn't sound templated.

4B. Failure modes, and the Pillar 1 each one requires

- FM1 Never started or inconsistent (Greg, Kevin)
  "[He] {had never posted on social media or even run a single ad campaign / didn't post on social media consistently}, and [he] didn't have a clear direction of what actually worked."
  P1: STUDIO or FORMAT, framed as built "from scratch."
- FM2 Volume without traction (Dr. Richard, Stephanie)
  "[He] had posted [N] times before working with us with almost no traction."
  P1: RESET or FORMAT.
- FM3 DIY burnout (Chelsea, Ashley)
  "[He] was posting [N] pieces of content per month doing everything by [himself]. The ideation, the scripting, the editing, the posting, the analytics."

P1: DFY.

- FM4 Random posting, too busy (Adam)
  "[His] social media had no strategy. It was just random posts with no clear direction because [he] was too busy running [his] [practice] to figure it out."
  P1: DFY.
- FM5 Views from the wrong audience (Daryoosh)
  "[His] entire strategy was finding random trends and having [his] team recreate them."
  P1: STUDIO, with RESET/FUNNEL as P2.
- FM6 Paid dependency (David)
  "[He] was spending thousands of dollars a month on ads, which were eating into [his] profits."
  P1: FORMAT.
- FM7 Word-of-mouth ceiling (Greg)
  "[He] had no predictable way to get new clients. [His] whole business was relying on word of mouth and referrals."
  P1: STUDIO.
- FM8 Platform ceiling (Jay)
  "[He] had success on [PLATFORM], but [he] felt like [he] was missing the key to short-form content that could reach millions more [AUDIENCE]."
  P1: FORMAT.
- FM9 Time sink, no conversion (Jared)
  "[His] team was spending almost [N] hours a month on content, but nothing was actually converting for [him]."
  P1: RESET.

4C. Pillar bank

Ordering constraints (no exceptions in the set):

- DFY is always P1 (3/3).
- FUNNEL is always P2 (5/5).
- SYSTEM, CONVERT, and ADS are always last (7/7).
- STUDIO is P1 or P2 (7 of 8; Jay's P3 bundles it with planning).
- FORMAT is P1 (4 of 5).
- RESET is P1, or P2 when STUDIO took P1.
- Use only two pillars when the core problem is DIY or inconsistency (true of all three two-pillar scripts), or when the script must stay under about 300 words.
- Asides never appear in Pillar 3 (0 of 8 three-pillar scripts).

STUDIO: professional studio, authority upgrade (8/11)

- Label: "First, we set [him] up with a professional looking studio..." or "Second, we positioned [him] as the go-to expert, so we set [him] up with a really professional studio and messaging in [his] scripts that speaks directly to [his] audience."

- Body: "...that {made [him] look and sound like the expert [he] was / took [him] from [local practitioner] to [industry] authority, basically overnight / made [him] look credible and increased [his] product's perceived value immediately}."
- Add-ons:
    - "We got [him] an editor with millions of views of experience."
    - "We also helped [him] navigate filming outside in different locations when [he] wanted to showcase [X]."
    - Aside A3.

FUNNEL: full-funnel strategy (5/11, always P2)

- Label: "Second, we built out a full funnel social media strategy." or "Next, and this is the piece that most people miss, is building out a full funnel social media system."
- Body (a fixed three-part structure; keep the order and the for/to pattern): "So before, [he] was posting randomly with no real purpose other than to try to get views. But now we're strategically posting top of funnel content for {views / reach / awareness}, middle of funnel content for {authority / retargeting those viewers into followers}, and then bottom of funnel content {like lead magnets and direct offers} to actually convert [his] audience into paying clients."
- Variant when their top of funnel already worked: "So [he] already had great top of funnel content with [FORMAT] that resonated with [his] ideal audience, but it was mostly entertainment and it wasn't converting into clients. So views don't equal dollars. I get it. We doubled down on middle and bottom of funnel videos that moved [his] audience from just entertained viewers to booked calls and then eventually closed deals."
- Optional: "And each one was posted at a specific cadence each week."

SYSTEM: systematize (5/11, always last)

- Label: "And number three, we systematized the entire thing." or "And then we turned the entire thing into a system and we put it on rails."
- Body: "So we built a content library, an editing pipeline, analytics tracking, and had months' worth of content planned out in advance, with very minimal effort from [him]. Before, there was no tracking or planning; it was kind of throwing spaghetti at a wall, seeing what worked. But now we have a plan for what content we're making this week. We're tracking what's performing. We're doubling down on the winners week over week."
- Double-down variant: "And then once we found what worked, doubling down on that first [X] million view video made it really, really easy to plan the next several posts around it. And since then, [he]'s had an incredible amount of success reiterating on that format."

DFY: done for you (3/11, always P1)

- Label: "First, we removed all of the production bottlenecks." / "So first, we made it really easy for [him]." / "So the first thing we did was take most of this off of [his] plate so [he] could be freed up to actually run the business."

- Body: "Before coming to us, [he] was posting [N] times a week doing everything [himself]: scripting, editing, production, analytics, everything. It was way too much for any business owner. So we immediately took almost all of it in-house."
- Follow with an L13 time-cost line.

RESET: stop what isn't working (3/11)

- Label: "First, we stopped posting videos that weren't working." / "First, we completely shifted from posting tons of quantity to posting quality." / "Next, we did a complete 180 on [his] social media strategy."
- Body: asides A2 and A1, then "What we did instead was [NEW APPROACH]." or "So instead, we moved to fewer, strategically crafted posts that actually performed for [him]."
- 180 version: "Before, [he] was filming random [office skits and dance videos] that did take a while to produce, but they weren't even really getting the results [he] was after. So we switched to [founder-led interview style content] that only takes a few hours of [his] time a month to film and clearly demonstrates [his] expertise."

FORMAT: new format or idea engine (5/11)

- Labels: "So first we introduced a brand new format for [him]." / "First, we set [him] up with an idea generation system that focused on a variety of formats." / "Market research and planning: we conducted a deep dive on [his] brand and [his] niche." / "First, we leveraged [his] visual storytelling."
- Body options:
    - "It was [scripted, direct-to-camera product demos]. And this isn't a new idea in the [INDUSTRY] world, but it was brand new to [him]. ... They absolutely crushed."
    - "[Podcast clips, direct to camera, selfie style content, and even content with [his] family]. So now, whenever [he] needs more content to post, [he] can pull from an entire library of ideas that are backed by stuff that already works for [his] audience."
    - "And we used that to script dozens of videos for [him] to film."
    - "So [his] product basically sells itself. We just needed more people to see it."

VOLUME: more output, same time (2/11, P2)

- "Next, we increased posting volume. So [he] went from posting [every day] to posting [multiple times a day] across platforms, a [N]% lift in post volume with no extra time for [him]."
- Or: "Second, we set up batch production. So [he] was able to film a whole bunch of content all at once, weeks' worth of material in just a few hours. And then our team handled literally everything else, from editing to production, optimization, distribution."

CONVERT: conversion mechanism (1/11, last)

- "And finally, we set [him] up with an automated DM funnel. So [he] didn't have a conversion system before. Now [he] has tons of bottom-of-funnel keywords so we can use these posts to drive sales to [his] products. And in just a few months, we drove [thousands of visitors to his website] with videos that were completely free to post."

ADS: organic to paid (1/11, last)

- "And then we took what started working for [him] on organic social media and turned that into ads. So our media buyers and marketing team walked [him] through everything, A to Z, from how to set up [his] account to [his] website to automations for bookings. My team was there every step of the way."

4D. Asides

Asides appear in 7/11 scripts, usually 1–2 per script (max 3), and only in the setup, P1, or P2.

- A1 Stop doing it: "And so if that's you right now, please stop doing that right now." / "...please stop spinning your wheels and actually change what you're posting."
- A2 Sounds simple: "And I know this sounds really simple, but like, I see business owners do this every day." / "...but it is extremely difficult to execute properly."
- A3 Non-negotiable: "If you're a doctor, a lawyer, accountant, or a B2B service provider, it is absolutely non-negotiable, because the quality of your video directly reflects how professional you appear."
- A4 Views aren't dollars: "So views don't equal dollars. I get it."
- A5 Most people miss it: "...and this is the piece that most people miss..."
- A6 Audience logic: "Because the kind of people that watch [memes] online usually don't need a [lawyer]. But the kind of people watching a [lawyer] break down real [legal] situations, those guys are already halfway to becoming a client."
- A7 Pattern I see: "And this is something I see with business owners a lot: they're really good at making content that gets views, but those views don't lead to clients."

4E. Final-state closers

Pick the closer that matches the client's biggest emotional payoff.

- F1 System (default): "Now, [NAME] has a system that allows [him] to consistently reach millions of people every single month."
- F2 Dominance: "And now [NAME] is absolutely dominating [his] niche. No one even comes close to [him] in the market that [he]'s in."
- F3 Predictability: "And this is the first time that [he]'s actually been able to predict [his] revenue instead of just waiting around, hoping people will show up to [his] [clinic]."
- F4 Overflow: "And now [he] has a fully managed social media system that's growing so quickly [he]'s having to actually change [his] entire business model to keep up with the demand. And if you've ever been in that position, you know how amazing that can feel."
- F5 Independence: "And now [NAME] is fully independent. [He]'s getting tens of millions of views every single month without relying on anyone."

- F6 Credit the client: "And this is what success looks like... And when people ask me, like, why was [he] so successful? It's like, yes, we did have a very specific strategy laid out for [him], but it's really because [he] trusted us and executed on that strategy to a T. [He]'s an expert [PROFESSION], but [he] trusted us to be the experts at social media."
- F7 Iteration proof: "And [his] best performing video actually was a recreated version of [his] first big win on social media. So being able to find what works quickly and then improve on it fast is what let [him] scale so well."
- F8 Niche objection (add-on to any closer): "And while [NAME] talks about [NICHE TOPIC], it doesn't matter what unique niche you are in, social media can work for you, just like it worked for [NAME]."

4F. CTA conditions

- C1 Pain mirror (default when the before-state was ads, referrals, or wasted team time): "And if {your business is relying on word of mouth and referrals right now / your team is wasting time and money posting content that isn't converting / you're spending thousands a month on ads and wanna replace it with videos that are literally free to post}..."
- C2 Segment: "And so if you have an [e-com business] and want to see how we can do this for you..."
- C3 Service list: "If you want us to help set up, optimize, script, edit, and distribute content on social media that makes you look like the expert, just like we did with [NAME]..."
- C4 Done for you: "So if you want us to just take your business and help you do exactly what we did for [NAME]..."
- C5 Low bar: "And if you're even remotely interested in trying to make this work for your business..."
- C6 Test it: "But if you're ready to test the system yourself..."
- C7 Browse proof (a complete line on its own): "You can click the link down below, see dozens of other testimonials and case studies, and apply to see if it's a fit for your business."

4G. How the 11 originals map onto this

Script	Hook	Failure mode	Pillars	Closer	CTA
Greg	ROI	FM7 + FM1	STUDIO → FORMAT → ADS	F3	C1
Dr. Richard	From-To	FM2	RESET → STUDIO → SYSTEM	ends on P3	C4
Stephanie	Before-Contrast	FM2	FORMAT → VOLUME → CONVERT	F2	C2

Jared	From-To + superlative	FM9	RESET → FUNNEL → SYSTEM	F5	C1
Jay	Goal Crush	FM8	FORMAT → FUNNEL → STUDIO	ends on P3	C3
Kevin	Stat Stack	FM1	FORMAT → VOLUME	F1	C7
Ashley	Descriptor	FM3	DFY → FUNNEL	F4	C3
Adam	From-To + ranking	FM4	DFY → STUDIO → SYSTEM	F6	C6
Chelsea	Stat Stack	FM3	DFY → FUNNEL	F1 + F8	C5
Daryoosh	Stat Stack	FM5	STUDIO → RESET/FUNNEL → SYSTEM	ends on P3	C3
David	From-To + "zero ad spend"	FM6	FORMAT → STUDIO → SYSTEM	F7	C1

5. Voice and number rules

Openers. Across about 230 sentences: "And" opens 28%, "So" 20%, "But" 6%, "We" 6%, "Here's" 4%, "Now" 3%, and ordinals about 6%.

And/So/But/Now together open 57% of sentences, and 10 of 11 scripts fall between 55% and 68%. In practice, of every 10 sentences, about 3 start with "And," 2 with "So," and 1 with "But" or "Now."

Rhythm. The median sentence is 18 words. About 20% are under 10 words and about 28% run over 25. Long sentences chain clauses with "and." Short ones deliver a quick verdict: "They absolutely crushed." "That's his entire commitment." "I get it."

Pronouns.

- "We" or "our team" performs every action.
- "I," "me," or "my" appears in at most two sentences, and only in asides, the F6 closer, or "My team was there every step of the way."
- "You" never appears in the hook, identity, or before lines.
- The client's first name appears 3–5 times (the set's median is 3): in the hook, the identity line, inside the method, and in the CTA or time-cost line.

Word quotas per ~400 words (corpus totals in parentheses):

- "actually" ×2 (21 uses, across 9/11 scripts)
- "really" ×1–2 (16 uses, 7/11)
- "consistently" ×1 (11 uses, 8/11)
- "every single" ×1 (10 uses, 7/11)

- "hundreds of" ×1–2 (14 uses, 9/11)
- "system" ×1–3 (17 uses, 10/11)
- plus 1–2 of "literally," "absolutely," "incredible," "super," or "tons of"

Fixed vocabulary. Use these exact terms, never synonyms:

- professional (looking) studio, go-to expert, ideal audience
- full funnel social media strategy; top/middle/bottom of funnel
- content library, editing pipeline, analytics tracking, batch production, idea generation system, production bottlenecks
- automated DM funnel, bottom-of-funnel keywords, lead magnets and direct offers
- founder-led interview style content, direct to camera, podcast clips
- "ideation, scripting, editing, distribution"
- vanity metrics, doubling down on the winners

Stock idioms (1–3 per script): spinning your wheels, throwing spaghetti at a wall, put it on rails, to a T, A to Z, every step of the way, basically overnight, took off from there, blew past, absolutely crushed, eating into [his] profits, sells itself, off [his] plate.

Spoken texture. Use contractions everywhere and 0–2 fillers ("like," "you know," "It's like, yes,"). Emphatic doubling fits the style: "please stop doing that right now," "successful lawyer, successful business owner," "really, really easy."

Numbers.

- Spell out "million." Use "K" only for monthly money ("an additional 10K a month").
- Give views to one decimal unless round (21.6 million, 3.6 million, but 46 million). Give followers with commas (230,000) or as "1.8 million."
- Before-numbers get minimizers: just, only, under, less than, a couple, never cracked.
- After-numbers get maximizers: over, plus ("200 plus million"), almost. You may round up with "almost" in the hook if the body gives the exact figure ("almost 40 million" in the hook, "39.1 million" in the body).
- Ongoing performance uses vague magnitude words: hundreds of thousands, millions, tens of millions every single month. To hedge upward, use "hundreds of thousands, if not millions" (3/11).
- Activity lifts are percentages (90%, 163%, 290%, over 300%). Growth is a multiple (10x, 21x). Ad spend and revenue are per month; small ad budgets are per day.

Never use:

- prices, package names, or guarantees
- competitor names (a generic "any agency" is the limit)
- a question in the hook (the set's only question is reported speech inside a closer)
- "Furthermore," "Additionally," or "In conclusion"
- more than three pillars
- exact client counts
- any knock on the client's core skill

6. Build procedure

1. Fill the intake sheet and apply the fallbacks.
2. Pick one primary failure mode from 4B.
3. Pick the hook variant from 4A. Write L1 with 2–3 numbers plus a time qualifier or kicker.
4. Write L2–L4, with at most one L5 amplifier.
5. Add L6 if there's a breakout video. Write L7–L8 and confirm a hook number repeats.
6. Choose the L9 transition.
7. Set P1 to the failure mode's antidote, then fill P2 and P3 under the ordering constraints.
8. Write the hero pillar (60–130 words, with before-contrast and an aside), then the others (25–80 words). Make sure at least one pillar has a noun list.
9. Place L13, then write L14–L16 from 4E and 4F.
10. Do a voice pass:
    - rewrite sentence openings until about 60% begin with And/So/But/Now
    - hit the word quotas
    - add 1–3 idioms
    - format the numbers
11. Run the QA checklist and trim to 350–450 words.

7. QA checklist (every answer must be yes)

Length and hook

- 350–450 words (hard limits 245–580), in 18–26 sentences?
- Is sentence 1 the hook, opening "Here's how we" or using the Before-Contrast variant?
- Does the hook have 21–41 words, 2+ numbers, and a time qualifier or kicker?

Story and numbers

- Profession named by sentence 2, with the client's competence protected?
- Does the before-state include a number?
- Does the after-state include 2+ numbers, "consistently," and a business consequence?
- Does a hook number reappear in the body, with no two numbers contradicting each other?
- Is every number and scale claim true for this client and this agency?

Structure

- Does the transition start between 28% and 40% of the word count, and the scale proof between 83% and 92%?
- 2–3 pillars with ordinals, P1 answering the failure mode, and the ordering constraints held?
- 1–3 asides, none in Pillar 3?

- Does the time-cost line use a small unit (hours, an afternoon, once or a couple times a month)?
- Final-state line, a "hundreds of" scale proof, and "click the link down below" ending in "see if you qualify" or "to apContinuing from the QA checklist, where the last response was cut off:

Structure (continued)

- Final-state line, a "hundreds of" scale proof, and "click the link down below" ending in "see if you qualify" or "to apply"?

Voice

- Client's name used 3–5 times, and the right name every time?
- 55–68% of sentences open with And/So/But/Now, word quotas met, and nothing from the "never use" list?

8. Worked example

This is a hypothetical client, written only from the spec above.

Intake. Marcus owns a roofing company and was already successful locally.

- Before: 1,200 followers, 300+ posts of random job-site photos averaging under 400 views, and $8,000 a month on ads.
- After five months: 85,000 followers, 14.2 million views, 140+ leads a month, and ad spend cut by $6,000 a month. Video #9 hit 2.4 million views.
- Time commitment: He films one afternoon every two weeks.

Decisions:

- Hook: From-To (70x follower growth)
- Failure modes: FM4 + FM6
- Pillars: RESET → FUNNEL → SYSTEM
- Closer: F3
- CTA: C1

> [L1] Here's how we took our client, Marcus, from 1,200 followers and $8,000 a month in ad spend to over 85,000 followers, 14.2 million views, and over 140 inbound leads a month in just five months. [L2] So Marcus owns a roofing company, and he was already really successful in his area. [L3] But before working with us, he was spending $8,000 a month on ads that were eating into his profits, and his social media was just random job-site photos. [L4] He'd posted over 300 times and was averaging under 400 views per video. [L6] But after just his ninth video with our team, he got a 2.4 million view video, and his page just took off from there. [L7] Now he has over 85,000 followers and 14.2 million views, and he started getting so many inspection requests from social media that he actually cut $6,000 a month in ad spend. [L8] And he's consistently getting hundreds of thousands of views per video.

> [L9] So here's the exact strategy that we used for Marcus. [P1 · RESET · hero] First, we stopped posting content that wasn't working. And I know this sounds really simple, but I see business owners do this every single day. And so if that's you right now, please stop spinning your wheels. What we did instead was set Marcus up with a professional looking studio that made him look and sound like the expert he is, and we helped him film up on actual roofs. [P2 · FUNNEL] Second, we built out a full funnel social media strategy, because views don't equal dollars. I get it. So now we're strategically posting top of funnel videos on storm damage and roofing myths for reach, middle of funnel inspection walkthroughs for authority, and then bottom of funnel content with a free inspection offer to actually convert viewers into booked jobs. [P3 · SYSTEM] And number three, we systematized the entire thing. So we built him a content library, an editing pipeline, and analytics tracking, planned a month's worth of content in advance, and now we're doubling down on the winners week over week. [L13] And now that the whole system is set up for him, all Marcus does is sit down and film one afternoon every two weeks. We handle everything else.
> [L14 · F3] And this is the first time that he's actually been able to predict how many jobs are coming in next month instead of just waiting around for storm season. [L15] And we do this for hundreds of local businesses every single day. We have dozens of case studies and testimonials you can scroll through. [L16 · C1] So if you're spending thousands a month on ads and you wanna replace it with social media videos that are literally free to post, just click the link down below, see if you qualify.

Measured against the spec:

- 452 words in 23 sentences
- 65% of sentences open with And/So/But/Now
- The transition starts 35% of the way in, and the scale proof at 87%
- "Actually" appears 3 times, "every single" twice, and there are 3 stock idioms and 3 asides, none in Pillar 3
